Ⅱ 次の文章を読み、後の問いに答えなさい。

Chrys and Naomi are talking to each other on social media.

Naomi : Hi, Chrys. How was your week?

Chrys : Tiring! My teachers gave me lots of homework because I have final exams soon.

Naomi : Final exams? But it's still June!

Chrys : In England, the school year begins in September and ends in July. We usually have a long holiday all through August.

Naomi : Really? Wow. In Japan, our summer holiday is much shorter. Even our spring break is only two weeks long.

Chrys : ①That sounds hard... How much homework do you get?

Naomi : Quite a lot. Actually, I still haven't finished this week's Math homework...

Chrys : ②I haven't studied Math since junior high! I was really bad at it.

Naomi : I'm not good at it either, but I still have to study it. Japanese is my strongest subject, so the homework is <③>. Everything else is hard though...

Chrys : What other subjects are you studying? I study Psychology, Literature and Media.

Naomi : Just those three? Wow, lucky...

Chrys : High school students in England can choose any three subjects they want. The level of study is a little high, though.

Naomi : Still, at least you don't have to study Math!

Chrys : Ha-ha. High school in England is only two years, from age sixteen to age eighteen, but junior high is longer. We study in junior high for five years. And we can't choose our subjects in junior high.

Naomi : I see... So high school in England is for two years. There are more differences than I thought!

Chrys : By the way, does your school have a cultural festival? I've read about them in manga.

Naomi : Yeah, we have one every year in October. Preparing for them is hard, but it's always a lot of fun! I'm in the cooking club, so we usually have a presentation. Sometimes we have a public contest that the visitors can join, too.

Chrys : That sounds nice. We don't have anything like that in England.

Naomi : Really? Not even school clubs?

Chrys : There are a few, like film club and art club.

Naomi : Oh, cool. Do the film club members make their own movies?

Chrys : No, they just watch and then discuss them. There's a newspaper club that makes their own newspaper, but they only make two newspapers each year.

Naomi : I see. Which club are you in, Chrys?

Chrys : Me? I'm a member of the going-home club.

Naomi : Ha-ha! Anyway, I need to finish my Math homework. Do your best in your exam!

Chrys : Thank you! Good luck with your homework, Naomi!

Harumi's Scottish Adventure

Harumi was very excited because today, she was going on a trip to a lake called Loch Ericht. A few months ago, Harumi's friend Andrea invited her to go to Scotland. Yesterday, they arrived at the airport and traveled north to the Highlands, where Andrea's family lived.

Andrea's grandparents were very friendly, but ① Harumi couldn't understand them when they talked. Luckily, Andrea's parents explained it to her. Harumi was surprised when she saw Andrea's grandfather wearing a skirt. Andrea explained that it was a kilt, traditional Scottish clothing worn by both men and women.

Harumi read about the Highlands in a book. It seemed that the Highlands had many mountains and lakes, like Yamanashi Prefecture. Loch Ericht was the seventh largest lake in Scotland.

"How will we travel to the lake?" Harumi asked Andrea. "Is there a train?"

Andrea laughed. "No, there aren't many trains in the Highlands. My father will drive us there by car."

They rode in the car for about half an hour. Harumi was still tired from the long <②> journey, so she fell asleep.

"Hey, wake up! We're here." Andrea woke her friend up.

They stood on a hill besides the lake. The water was bright blue and the lake was surrounded by mountains on all sides.

"Wow! It's so beautiful!" Harumi thought.

"It looks pretty, but ③ you need to be careful," Andrea's father said. "A big monster lives in the water."

"Really?!" Harumi heard of the Loch Ness monster, but didn't know there was a monster in Loch Ericht too.

"Yeah. Most lakes in Scotland have a monster story," Andrea's father explained. "In the stories, the monster usually looks like a horse, but it's actually a water spirit called a kelpie. The Loch Ness monster apparently looks like a dinosaur, though."

"Water spirit?" Harumi was confused. "Oh, you mean, a monster that lives in water, like a kappa?"

"That's right! There are many stories about monsters and ghosts in Scotland. For example, have you heard of will-o-the-wisp?" Andrea's father asked. "It's a light that appears at night in a swamp, and it moves if you get close to it. It's very mysterious!"

"I see!" Harumi said. "That sounds like kitsunebi. They're lights that are made by foxes."

"How interesting! ④ So different cultures have (A) names and stories for the (B) thing."

Harumi continued talking about monsters with Andrea and her father when they walked around the lake. It was very tiring but also very fun. Once they were done, they ate a large meal at a restaurant nearby. Harumi thought she would sleep well that night.
